We may have to make a pdf that we need to view and the next one we don't need to view and so on. (Unfortunately because of the work flow we can't make all one kind of pdf and then all another kind). If we turn viewing on for one pdf, then it stays on for the next one. A script for the ones we don't need to view would speed things up quite a bit.

Another way to get back into mail without restarting is to go to settings, email, and turn off the mail account (not delete, but make it inactive), hit done, and go back in and turn it on. After doing that, it will bring you back to your inbox. Granted not a "fix" but better than powering down and restarting your ipad every time.
